Unlock Your Home Equity

Help Pay For Homeowner's Insurance & Property Taxes

If you're like many homeowners, your house is your greatest asset. Like others, you may need access to additional funds to cover Property Taxes and Homeowners Insurance (HOI).

A Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) loan, also known as a reverse mortgage, allows you to put your hard-earned home equity to work for you. HECM loan proceeds are tax free* and can be used to cover the cost of your needs while you continue to live in your home. Consult your tax advisor.

How can a HECM be used for retirement security?

- Enhance financial security
- Diversify wealth
- Replace cash reserves
- Increase cash flow
- Delay Social Security and pension draws
- Cover unexpected gaps in medical coverage including long term care
- Eliminate monthly mortgage payments while remaining current on property taxes and insurance
- Provide a "shock absorber" for investments in a down market

Ease Your Cash Concerns In Retirement

With a Reverse Mortgage Purchase

Would you like to purchase a home closer to family, friends and vital services and not have to make another mortgage payment again? If you are 62 or older, it's possible with a Reverse Mortgage Purchase!

You must, however, show willingness and capacity to maintain the property and pay all property taxes, homeowner's insurance, HOA dues, and other fees and charges, if applicable.

If you're able to put away some money from the sale of your previous home, you'll benefit from having a little more cash on hand – especially with no new monthly mortgage payments to make!
